Sermon: Singing and Staying

Summary: Paul and Silas were in prison with their futures uncertain. An earthquake frees them from their chains in the middle of the night. But how they responded to that opportunity was not what anyone around them expected.

Discussion Questions:

- If you had heard about Peter's escapes, what would you have done in Paul and Silas' place after the earthquake opened your doors and loosened your chains?
- Silas and Paul were praying and singing praises to God while chained up in prison. Where is your focus when life is tough?
- When freedom was available, they chose to remain in prison and risk their lives. Why do you think they would do that?
- What message does it send to people around us how we respond to adversity?

From the Worship Director

I'd like to thank some of the large groups that I've worked with this past school year for all of their dedication and hard work! The Sunday School students did an excellent job singing the Books of the Bible song on Sunday! The choir will start again mid-September and you are welcome to join this fun group! We take all ages from Junior High School and up! This Sunday will be the Bell Choir's last presentation until next fall. They will be doing the piece "Paul and Silas" and Jim Zuercher will serve as narrator playing the part of Luke. Thanks again to all of you!

Until next time.....Minda
